Abstract

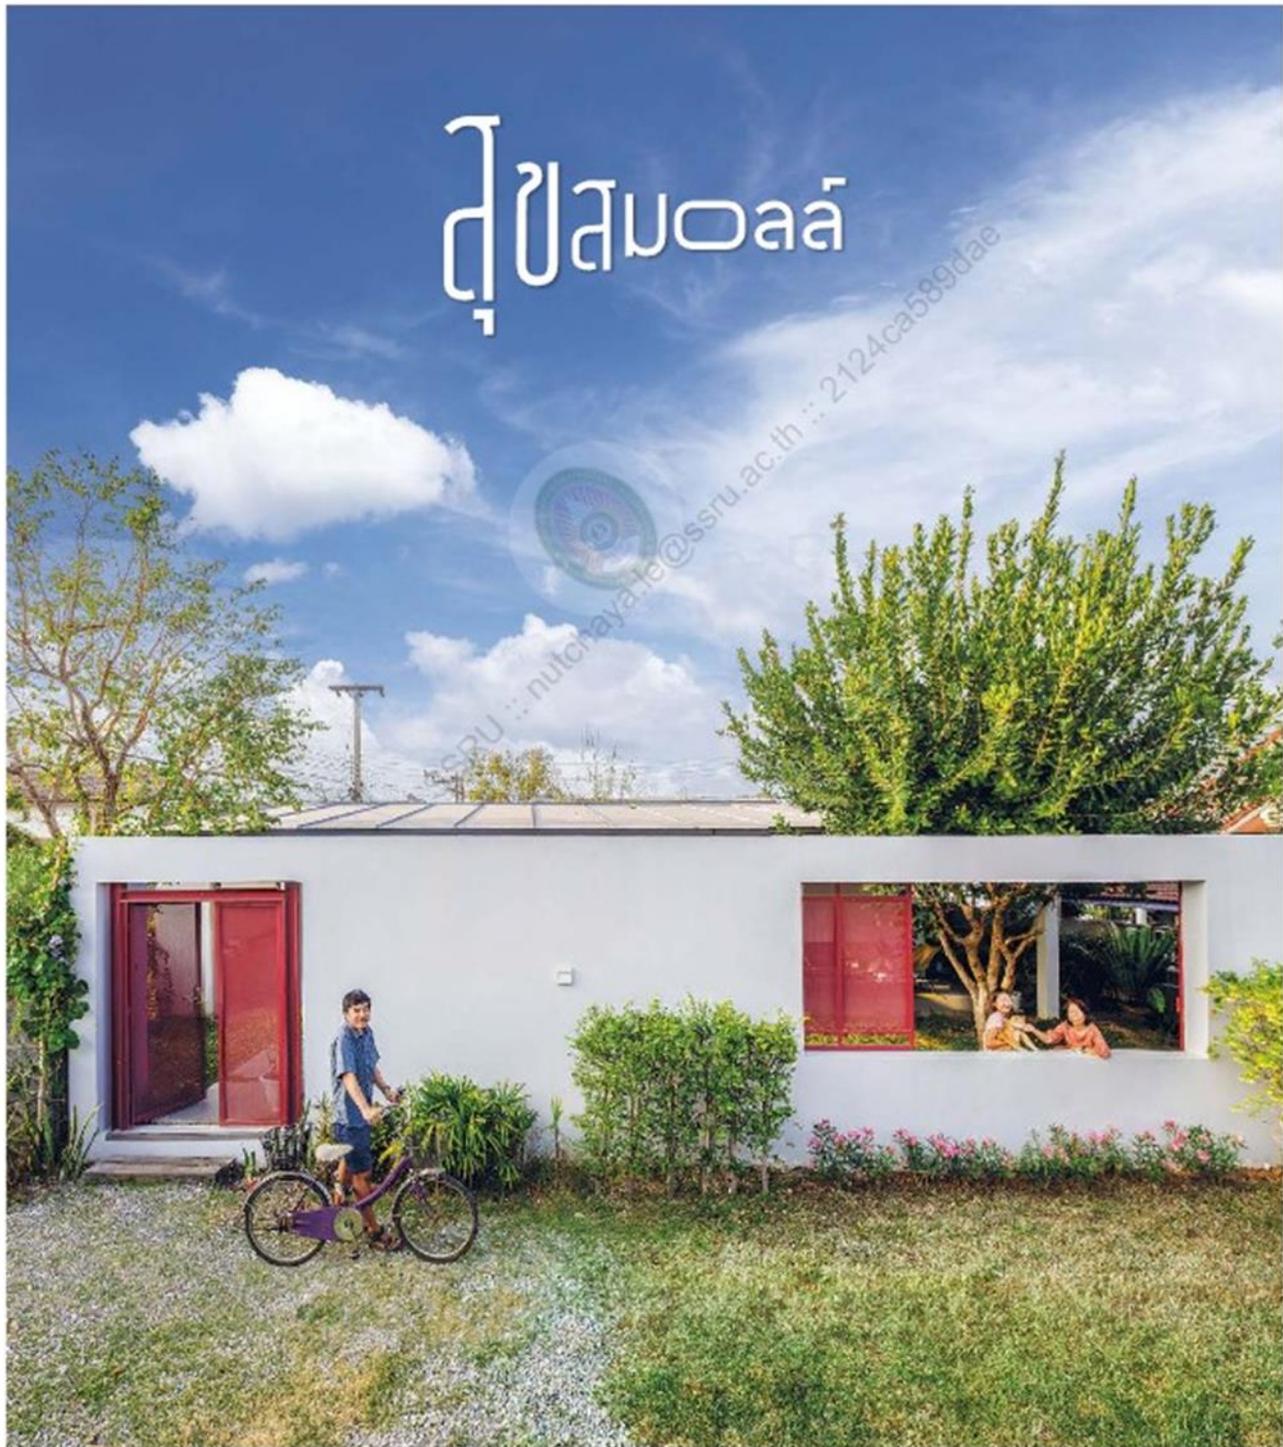

Presenting content about This pig could save our lives: advances in genetics and science Medicine is turning our pets into organ donors for thousands of people waiting for transplants.
The candy-like beauty of sea urchins protects coral reefs, but now they too need protection. An oasis is disappearing. A community in southern Morocco is combining ancient knowledge with modern innovation to protect a desert wetland. The Chinese immigrants of the Tha Chin River basin are building a Chinese school, a shrine and a temple as part of an effort to preserve the cultural heritage of the Chinese immigrants in the Tha Chin River basin. Are we sure Pluto is a planet? Since being downgraded to dwarf planet status nearly 20 years ago, its visible appearance has sparked debate. What can we learn from the genius of beavers? First hunted for their skins, then classified as a pest, they're now being recognized as climate change heroes. The future of fashion is from farm to closet. An Indonesian fashion brand is embracing traditional techniques to create a new approach to making and selling truly sustainable clothing.
