

Journal of Intellectual Property & Practice

P263000999

Journal of Intellectual Proper...

Vol.15 No.5 May 2020

Contents

Editorial

- Defining the indefinable: Legislating for “ambush marketing”
Phillip Johnson . . . . . 313

Current Intelligence

- Online marketplace operators saved from liability for trade mark infringement?
Carina Gommers and Eva De Pauw . . . . . 315

- CJEU rules on absolute ground concerning marks contrary to accepted principles of morality
Lukasz Zelechowski . . . . . 316

- US court rules that unlicensed reproduction of NBA players’ tattoos in their videogame avatars is not a copyright infringement
Eleonora Rosati . . . . . 318

- Free speech in denial of a permanent injunction in US copyright practice
Qing Wu . . . . . 320

- Michael Skidmore v Led Zeppelin*: Copyright infringement in music under US law
Hayleigh Bosher . . . . . 321

- From ‘Sherlockian Venture’ to a ‘Matter of Trial’: Delhi High Court adds to the plight of the Indian direct selling market
Aditya Gupta . . . . . 324

Practice Point

- Debranding and rebranding of goods: the Mitsubishi decision and the scope of trade mark protection based on function theory
Sandra Stolzenburg-Wiemer . . . . . 326

Articles

- National copyright decisions round-up 2019
The Bird & Bird IP Team . . . . . 332

- The real problem of fakes in Africa: enabling factors and advice to rights holders
Marius Schneider, Vanessa Ferguson and Nora Ho Tu Nam . . . . . 365

- ‘Digital due process’: a need for online justice
Frederick Mostert . . . . . 378

- Communication to the public online: protecting copyright or breaking the Internet?
Andrew McWhirter . . . . . 390

- Artificial intelligence and inventorship: an Australian perspective
Nick Li and Tzeyi Koay . . . . . 399

IP in Review

- Digital copyright condensed
Bernd Justin Jütte . . . . . 405

- Corrigendum . . . . . 407