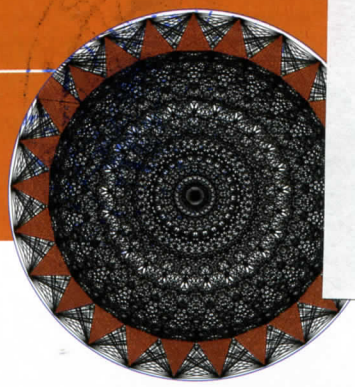
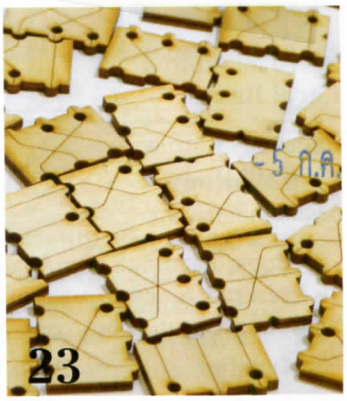
math
HORIZONS



P264000554
Math Horizons
Vol.28 No.4 April 2021

Contents

ABOUT THE COVER
A Distinguished Complete Graph, artwork by Zechariah Hazel.



24 ON THE COVER
Graph Stamping: Art-Inspired Mathematics
Zechariah Hazel, Josh Laison, and Allison Kerkhoff discuss their math-art collaboration and a resulting new type of graph distinguishing problem.

2 Knightdoku
Try this addicting Sudoku variant featuring the knight chess piece. David Nacin

5 Same-Score Streaks: A Case Study in Modeling
Rick Cleary and Peter Staab walk us through their process of modeling the rare event of a sports team achieving multiple successive games with the exact same score.

10 The Marble Collection of Mrz. Omega
Investigate fascinating properties of the various higher-dimensional shapes included in a curated collection of the pan-dimensional hyper-intelligence known as Mrz. Omega. Dan Kalman and Bruce Torrence

14 ILLUMINATING ILLUSTRATION
Inverse Tree Theorem
A beautiful visual diagram gives us a glimpse of a theorem about iteratively created trees and hints at how to create your own such images. Vince Matsko and Nick Mendler

16 In TetraCycles:* A SET Deck Magic Trick
Parker Glynn-Adey and Zhengyu Li use the magic of de Bruijn sequences to construct a mystifying trick using a SET deck.

19 The United States of America Prime
Vadim Ponomarenko demonstrates a prime number in the shape of the American flag and describes briefly how to create your own prime image.

20 SET With a Twist
Cathy Hsu, Jonah Ostroff, and Lucas Van Meter return with more SET variants, focusing on algebraic constructions of alternate decks and introducing nonabelian SET games.

28 THE BOOKSHELF
Spencer Bagley reviews Supermath: The Power of Numbers for Good and Evil, by Anna Weltman; Nathan N. Alexander reviews Mathematics for Human Flourishing, by Francis Su.

30 THE PLAYGROUND
The Math Horizons problem section, edited by Glen Whitney.

34 AFTERMATH
Who Likes Math?
Athena Li ponders eliminating the divide between those who do and don't like math.

35 Pi in The Sky
Bill Finneran shares a picture taken off the coast of Antarctica.