May / June 2021

"It's not a vacation place.
Here, things have to function every day."
Mitchell Lee Marks, resident
Page 86

CONTENTS

features

66
Ripple Effect
A midcentury house on Bainbridge Island showcases the top sustainable renovation techniques in the world.
TEXT
Melissa Dalton
PHOTOS
Rafael Soldi

76
Fresh Tracks
Famed architecture firm Snøhetta designs a ski cabin that rises up from the Norwegian landscape.
TEXT
Audrey Camp
PHOTOS
Nadia Norskott

86
Escape Pod
A professor-turned-farmer's circular Hawaii home takes full advantage of the property's amazing views.
TEXT
Timothy A. Schuler
PHOTOS
Mariko Reed

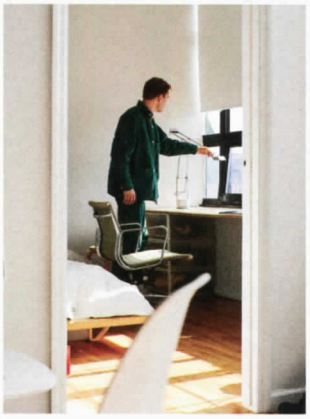
COVER PHOTO BY
Carlos Chavarria

ABOVE
The D-Fin House, designed by Craig Steely, perches above a farm on Hawaii's Big Island.
PHOTO BY Mariko Reed

dwell

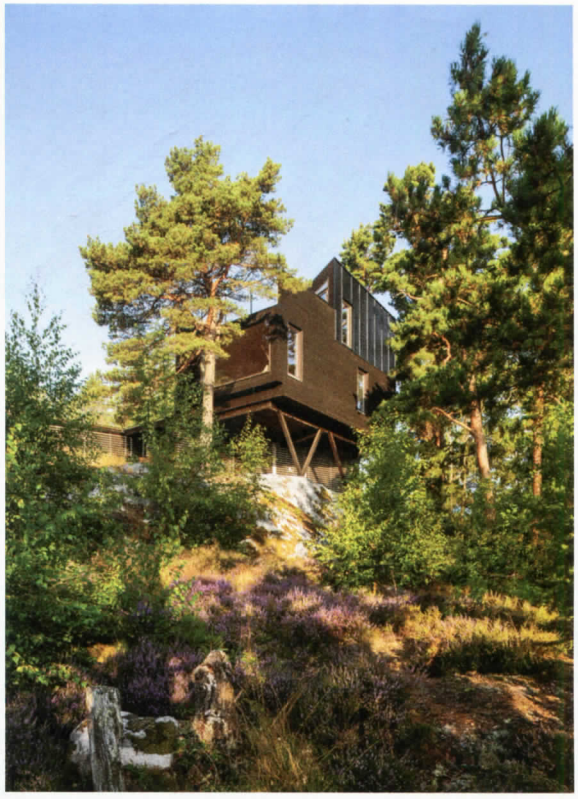
May/June 2021

102



48

96



CONTENTS

departments

13 Editor's Letter

16 Community

116 Sourcing
See it? Want it? Need it? Buy it!

120 One Last Thing
Plant stylist Hilton Carter discovers meaning in a flea market find.

25 Modern World
Even when it's not necessitated by a pandemic, entertaining outdoors is one of the great pleasures of warm weather. In this issue, we present furniture, lighting, and many other objects to outfit your next open-air event—whether it's a backyard campout or a small-scale wedding. Plus, we muse on the inimitable joys of outdoor showers.
EDITED BY Chelsea Holden Baker and Anna Fixsen
PHOTOS BY Jamie Chung
ILLUSTRATIONS BY Hannah Warren

38 Conversation
Oakland designer and artist Walter Hood talks about the importance of investing in marginalized Black neighborhoods and neglected urban spaces.
TEXT BY Zahid Sardar
ILLUSTRATION BY Sam Kerr

44 New Normal
Now that parking spots for cars have become outdoor dining areas for people in cities all over the world, we examine what that change can tell us about the future.
TEXT BY Brock Keeling
ILLUSTRATIONS BY Junghwa Park

48 Rental Revamp
A designer's 88-square-foot bedroom-cum-studio is a study in offbeat organization.
TEXT BY Jessica Dailey
PHOTOS BY Pippa Drummond

56 Small Spaces
Artist and builder Jay Nelson creates the tree house of our dreams in California's Santa Cruz Mountains.
TEXT BY Duncan Nielsen
PHOTOS BY Carlos Chavarria

96 Outside
Swedish architect Rickard Rotstein draws on a lifetime of experience to design his own summer cabin.
TEXT BY Tiffany Orvet
PHOTOS BY James Silverman

102 Backyard House
A Connecticut family with a particularly active lifestyle turns to an up-and-coming designer for the perfect place to store their abundance of gear.
TEXT BY Julie Lasky
PHOTOS BY Tony Luong

Get a full year of Dwell at dwell.com/subscribe

dwell